Toyama Kanazawa Children's Summit Declaration

~What we can do to create a better future for ourselves and society~

Even during times when it is difficult to predict the future, such as the COVID-19 pandemic, the ongoing conflicts around the world, and the remarkable development of technology, in order for people to feel happiness and for society to move forward toward a better future, we hereby declare that we will take the following actions

1 Possess dreams and goals, and make the most of our strengths and potential

We will grow our potential by continuing to learn

We will actively pursue our dreams and goals

We will connect with others, understand each other's strengths, and enhance each other

2 Accept diversity and understand and respect others

We will value encounters with diverse people and listen to even the smallest of voices

We will engage in dialogue and accept differences with others

We will promote universal design and endeavour to make all people feel comfortable

3 Create towns and cities that are easy to live in and that all people can be proud of

We will create beautiful towns and cities together with the community

We will protect traditional culture and connect with the community

We will learn from the region, communicate its appeal, and revitalize it

4 Realize a sustainable and happy society

We will value limited resources and things

We will value interpersonal relationships and contribute to society

We will support each other to protect lives and uphold safety

5 Pass on the baton for a bright future 100 years from now

We will engage with people of all ages and treat them with compassion

We will value and protect traditions and the environment

We will continue to pursue a bright future

As one of the main actors in creating a happier and better future, we will continue to communicate these efforts from Toyama and Kanazawa to the world.

We would like to ask the ministers gathered at the G7 Education Ministers' Meeting in Toyama and Kanazawa to work with us to create a better future.
